Soul Scope - Introducing Yourself To You

Above is your name, and birth details. Please check this information is correct.

Your Soul Scope symbolises and sheds light upon - your purpose, your needs, your talents, your doubts, your sensitive spots, your destiny and more.

Whilst Reading Your Soul Scope

The overall accuracy of your Soul Scope is dependent on your birth time. Please bear in mind that although this horoscope is as accurate and informative as possible, there is no guarantee that every word will apply at this moment in time, or in the past or future. This horoscope maps out your potential; it is up to you what you make of this potential. You should always rely upon your own judgement and individual choice, will and inclination - which are precisely what your Soul Scope helps shed light upon.

Below your chartwheel the 'astrological positions' of your horoscope are set out by zodiac sign and degree which are interpreted in the following twelve chapters describing what they mean in your life. The number of ways in which the three factors of Planetary Aspects, Zodiac Signs and Houses can be combined is infinite.

The 'Aspects' are given a Star Rating from one to five to show their relative importance in the Profile. To the right of each pair of 'aspect' symbols is a group of five stars ★☆☆☆☆, the more dark stars there are the more powerful and significant the meaning of that aspect will be. The keys for the planets and the other symbols and terms used are given at the back of the report.

Ewan's Chart Elements

There are four Elements in astrology: Fire, Earth, Air and Water. Each Zodiac Sign belongs to one of these, and you have each of these Elements either Over-Emphasised, Under-Emphasised or Balanced - as follows:

Ewan's Air Element Balanced

You are clear without being 'light', impartial without sitting on the fence.

Ewan's Earth Element Balanced

You are practical without being dull. You are reliable, up to a point.

Ewan's Fire Element Balanced

You have a healthy drive without being too driven. You can amuse yourself and are easily enthused.

Ewan's Water Element Balanced

You are responsive yet centred, and compassionate and sensitive without being overwhelmed emotionally.

Ewan's Chart Modes

There are three Modes in astrology: Cardinal, Fixed and Mutable. Each Zodiac Sign belongs to one of these, and you have these Modes either Over-Emphasised, Under-Emphasised or Balanced - as follows:

Ewan's Cardinal Mode Over-Emphasised

You can be a good starter, but a bad finisher. Projects and relationships may lack sustain or follow-through.

To compensate, try being more passive. Learn to delegate. Listen to others you trust. Bear in mind that over-managing life is counter-productive.

Ewan's Fixed Mode Under-Emphasised

You may lack persistence and cannot, or find it hard to, stand your ground.

To compensate, determine your convictions and stick by them. Resist being a yes-person; there's seldom any future in it.

Ewan's Mutable Mode Balanced

You are moderately adaptable and alive to change.

You were born with...

Libra Rising which is interpreted in Chapter One

Sun in Aries in the Sixth House which is interpreted in Chapter Two

Moon in Gemini in the Ninth House which is interpreted in Chapter Three

Cancer at the Midheaven which is interpreted in Chapter Four

Mercury in Aries in the Seventh House which is interpreted in Chapter Five

Venus in Pisces in the Fifth House which is interpreted in Chapter Six

Mars in Capricorn in the Third House which is interpreted in Chapter Seven

Jupiter in Sagittarius in the Second House which is interpreted in Chapter Eight

Saturn in Taurus in the Eighth House which is interpreted in Chapter Nine

Uranus in Libra in the Twelfth House which is interpreted in Chapter Ten

Neptune in Sagittarius in the Second House which is interpreted in Chapter Eleven

Pluto in Virgo in the Twelfth House which is interpreted in Chapter Twelve

The Planets symbolize various energies manifesting as dynamics of personality.

The Signs qualify or colour these energies, rather like a filter over a light.

The Houses designate areas of life experience upon which these energies focus.

The Aspects express how these energies dynamically interact with one another.

Note: Ongoing planetary influences throughout your life - be they in the past, present or future - as they apply to the planetary positions at your birth, are given and interpreted in your Soul Guide.

Chapter One - Your Ascendant: Appearance and PersonaAS in Libra Rising

You are always trying to be fair and equitable, and you have the looks or demeanour to match. You attempt to find your identity as a counterweight to whatever is going on around you. Usually this is a matter of adjusting yourself to fit in, and/or to consistently put forward "the case for the opposition". It can also mean that if things are socially a bit dull, then a few caustic remarks are in order.

Or conversely, you could introduce a touch of seriousness when the going gets too frivolous. This is all very well, but who is this person, this human counterweight? What are his or her values, beliefs and convictions? It is very important that you establish them and act upon them if you are to avoid becoming a cipher who finds it impossible to get off the fence and make a decision that does not need the approval of whoever you regard as the approving body.

To be a successful social animal you have to have firm social principles to discover and establish your own ground, rather than just teeter on the spot. As a balance to all this counterbalancing, you tend to be attracted to assertive or wild partners who are motivated by straightforward or wilful desires rather than what others think. You should take a leaf or two from their book.

Venus is your Ruling Planet, which governs the link between your exterior being and your interior being. So study Chapter Six - Your Venus Profile, with this in mind.

Chapter Two - Your Sun profile: Your Will and Purpose

Sun in Aries

Your essential purpose in life is simply to do something that makes you feel an independent and effective individual. You could be doing this in some form of leadership or selling, or by forcing others to look at themselves in a new way. You could accomplish this either consciously, by carrying out a deliberate act in the name of some cause, or unconsciously, by making it hard for others to relate to you as you are.

You should be consciously aware of your pioneering streak, for in this way not only do you enjoy life more, but you avoid feeling pushed around by others - and with you it's more or less a case of push or be pushed.

This can be objectionable at times - and indeed your childlike impetuosity can repel others' co-operation - but you must have the freedom to act. Don't just think about it and get pent-up in the process. At all costs you need to avoid negative emotions like resentment, regret or self-pity, for they would deny you what is essential to your Arian nature - straightforwardness in responding to a challenge with action.

You should not be afraid to be forceful in this. If you are afraid, then look for negative examples of force in your personal history, what initially compromised your right to assert yourself. This right is like the outpouring of life itself and nothing should be allowed to get in the way of its innocence and freshness for this is what enables your Sign, like no other, to set the ball rolling.

Sun in the Sixth House

All of this is most likely to focus upon developing some kind of method or technique with which you can follow gainful employment or perform some sort of service. Without doing this it is probable that you'd suffer from unemployment or a string of aimless jobs. Your life is very much concerned with improving or preparing for something.

Initially, it is quite likely that you'll find yourself in a subordinate position where you are answerable to someone else - possibly even under their thumb. This would be because you are having to learn the importance of modesty and being in earnest. A career in health, hygiene or veterinary care could suit you well. Your own health can be quite an issue in that it is very much a barometer of your efficiency in life.

Your Sun Aspects

Sun challenged by Mars

You have quite a strong and resilient nature, or you feel fearful and feeble in the face of what seems a hostile world. So, on the one hand you are built for action and as a rule you have no trouble getting on with the job in hand. You are decisive, forthright and competitive and other people pick up on this and respond to it - although not necessarily that positively.

On the other hand, you must understand that your timidity is being felt by the child in you and that poses the need to develop the tougher, adult side of yourself. In either case, you need to know what you want, otherwise what could be a mixture of desire and aimlessness or sheer willfulness will create far more enemies than allies. Bear in mind that your undeniable drive and energy is initially discovered through encountering similar competitiveness in others. Your primary requirement is finding a worthwhile cause.

Sun allying with Jupiter

There is a supremely positive dimension to your personality that bestows both wisdom and good luck upon you. You have an essentially benign and philosophical nature that attracts funds and opportunities; help just when you need it and people in foreign parts who are well disposed towards you. The paradox is that because you can so easily conceive of an easier life, you tend to let negative matters build up to a point where you then have to use your luck in earnest.

Sun opposed by Uranus

However, in respect of much of all this you take up a decidedly radical position and aim to introduce to the world a strong sense of the original and innovative. This could well involve science and technology or metaphysics. You are heavily challenged in all the above-described areas with regard to this revolutionary stance that you adopt, especially by the more conservative elements of society, or even of your own personality.

You can be quirky and cranky (and at times downright rebellious), but you are certainly your own person. Alternatively, you could attract someone who embodies these individualistic traits, thereby forcing you to develop your own uniqueness and possibly go your own way.

Sun allying with Neptune

Pervading all of your being is a very natural sense of love and acceptance. Because this makes for a rather passive disposition, you are inclined to turn the other cheek rather than take issue. Any more aggressive instincts that you might have are more likely to be used protectively. All in all though, you have the wisdom to know that letting life take its own course is bound, in time, to deliver you to your rightful place. However, do not underestimate, and therefore fail to make something of, your innate ability to inspire and be inspired - be it through music, visual art, drama, literature or in the sphere of healing.

The Sabian Symbol For Your Sun

Finally, to give a symbolic focus to the Sun in your Chart, here is the "Sabian Symbol" for the degree of the Zodiac at which it was placed at the time of your birth. The Sabian Symbols were devised by astrologer Marc Edmund Jones and a clairvoyant called Elsie Wheeler. They may be read as interpreted, taken quite literally, or be given your own more personal or subjective interpretation much as you would for one of your dreams.

Remember to bear in mind that the Sun represents the essence or core of your life and its purpose, and to note how its Sabian Symbol corresponds to your Sun Profile, and your Chart interpretation as a whole. The Sabian Symbol for your Sun is...

"THE PRESIDENT OF THE COUNTRY" - Total focus of ego upon itself in order to achieve and maintain (worldly) position, often at the expense of what could be termed normal personal interaction. Keyword: SINGLE-MINDEDNESS. When positive, your willingness to make sacrifices indefinitely in order to fulfil your duty or destiny. When negative, ultimately destructive egocentricity and arrogance - or being a puppet or victim of same.

Chapter Three - Your Moon Profile: Your Needs and Emotional Responses

Moon in Gemini

Your reigning need is to feel constantly in touch with what is going on around you. Equally, you have a natural sense of what is happening at street level so to speak. Such a common touch as you have, and the ready wits and gift of the gab that accompany it, are only too able to keep things light and manageable. That is, until your emotional responses to life around you become inappropriately superficial. You then find that what you are doing on either a personal or professional level ceases to have enough permanence or depth of satisfaction - and is therefore worrying you to death and keeping you awake at nights.

The formula that 'you only get as good as you give' is a very apt one for you. Perhaps you originally devised your blend of affability and flippancy to deal with a mother that was not easy to relate to in an honest or consistent way. An important point in your development is when you consciously commit yourself to a deeper involvement with whatever life is demanding of you and then trust your mental alacrity and your ability to dodge and weave when necessary, in order to negotiate the trickier reefs of human interplay.

Moon in the Ninth House

Whatever your feeling nature is, there is an energy and enthusiasm to it because you are instinctively aware that the World is more than we can ever know. And so you perennially sense the possibility that around the corner waits another enthralling clue to the mystery of life. For the same reason, you can be adept at reading signs and omens.

Anything that gives you the feeling of life in motion is very reassuring to you. This would include any form of physical or astral travel, religious and philosophical pursuits, outdoor sports and activities. Indeed, your home itself could be distant from your place of birth - even in a foreign land.

Any caring or nurturing ability that you have takes on a religious or crusader-like tone. You regard well-being as an essentially spiritual matter, and you cannot conceive of a God without there being a Goddess too.

Your Moon Aspects

Moon unaspected by any other planet

As the Moon moves relatively quickly, it is quite unusual for it to form no Aspect at all to any other planet. It could be said that the nature of this unusual situation is that you have "chosen" to establish your security in life through conscious means, rather than letting your instincts decide, for they often prove unreliable. In other words, you really have to work out where you belong and what you genuinely feel as an individual, because you are unlikely to have inherited such a feeling of inner support.

Your mother could well be, or have been, at a loss in some way, causing her provision of emotional security to be wanting. The Sign and House placement of your Moon shows the nature of such instability, which probably got passed on to you...

Moon in Gemini

With your Moon in Gemini, there would have been too much or too little emphasis laid upon communicating or rationalising your feelings. Consequently, knowing and feeling have got rather confused in you. Keeping a journal of your feelings would help to establish what they really are.

So you are inclined to be quite erratic with regard to emotional states and feelings of security. With no aspects to your Moon, you have great ups and downs, interspersed with periods of total emotional absence. It is therefore quite difficult for others to know where you are coming from emotionally, for you are often out of touch with your own and others' feelings.

As you have seen, the matters concerning the House placement of your Moon will be especially subject to erratic swings and unpredictability. Generally, with no aspects to your Moon, you have got to gain a firm mental grip on your Moon's Sign and House indications, and learn to go with the flow, and not take things too personally.

The pearl of positivism that you are diving for is an emotional freedom, where you are not overly swayed this way or that by passing moods or fears. Depending upon how much you are in touch with your centre or individuality, such emotional freedom will allow you to return naturally to your own sense of equilibrium.

The Sabian Symbol for the Moon

Now, to give a symbolic focus to the Moon in your Chart, here is the "Sabian Symbol" for the degree of the Zodiac at which it was placed at the time of your birth. As I mentioned in the last Chapter - your Sun Profile, the Sabian Symbols may be read as interpreted, taken quite literally, or be given your own more personal or subjective interpretation much as you would for one of your dreams.

Remember to bear in mind that the Moon represents your unconscious disposition and responses, and your emotional needs and security, and to see how its Sabian Symbol corresponds to your Moon Profile in particular, and your Chart interpretation as a whole. The Sabian Symbol for your Moon is...

"A LARGE ARCHAIC VOLUME" - The persistence of knowledge and the timeless truths that exist as a source of illumination in and of the present. Keyword: LEGEND. When positive, your ability to draw upon past experience to disentangle you from current difficulties and establish a better path for the future. When negative, slavish worship of tradition and authority - the letter of the law rather than the spirit of it.

Chapter Four - Your Midheaven profile: Career and Status

MC in 69

Cancer at the Midheaven

This suggests that your professional arena is very much a 'home-from-home'. In other words, catering to the physical and emotional needs of the public is a very likely role for you. The fluctuating whims of society need to be sensed in order for you to find success. Your own home could be directly or indirectly involved in your profession, possibly a family business.

You have an inclination to mother the world - and this could range from being very much in demand in business to being a housewife, which is kind of the same thing! In either case though, beware of going around wiping everyone's noses to the point where you have no strength left and they haven't found theirs either.

The condition of your Moon by Sign, House & Aspect will tell more of how your nurturing and instinctual abilities may be employed professionally, as well as revealing how easily a professional position may be secured. (See Chapter 3)

With Cancer at the Midheaven you have Capricorn at your Lower Midheaven, which means to say that a disciplined and orderly home and family life is most desirable and you should strive to achieve this through not being compromised by your sympathies.

Chapter Five - Your Mercury Profile: Perception and Mentality

♿ in ♈

Mercury in Aries

Your mind has to be active - you want thoughts and words to become deeds rather than be left merely in the realm of ideas so this terrier-like mentality of yours enables you to learn, communicate or teach quickly and effectively. It also confers a flair for selling and promotion. The shortcoming of such cerebral impetuosity though is that you can have a one-sided point of view and a tendency to make decisions before all the facts are considered. You worry at the heels of anyone you're working with, talking or selling to. It's not surprising then that there's a lack of follow through on certain projects. Yet all these could be described as occupational hazards of a mind and tongue that just have to strike while the iron is hot - but a dash of diplomacy would make for smoother, steadier progress.

♿ in 7th House

Mercury in the Seventh House

You like to have a partner who thinks and perceives things in this way too and who is generally stimulating intellectually. You also prefer to conduct your relationships in a very reasonable way. This is fine up to the point where the emotional side of things can't get a look in. You will then find yourself with an extremely emotional mate on your hands, as they demand that you respond with more than just your head. Alternatively, if you're an emotional type yourself, or lack mental confidence for some reason, then you will get someone else to do your thinking for you. This is fine as long as you're both happy with the arrangement, but there will probably come a time when you will have to sort out your own mental or learning problems. Potentially, your mind is very capable of tuning into the facts and figures about others, so public relations or some kind of demographic or agency work would be well starred.

Your Mercury Aspects

Mercury working with Venus

Added to all this you have an artistic flair or a way with words. You don't just do or say something - you do it with style, wit or grace. Any activity where a fine touch is required is well starred; this could be playing a musical instrument, massage, or perhaps public relations. Writing well also comes naturally to you. Just be careful that you don't mistake fine words for equally fine feelings.

Chapter Six - Your Venus Profile: Attraction and Harmony

♀ in ♋

Venus in Pisces

Your sense of love and beauty are never without sensitivity, imagination and compassion. This does make you 'all heart' and therefore you're vulnerable and very prone to being taken advantage of emotionally so you have to learn to be more discriminating in your choice of partner and in how much of yourself you give away. Anyhow, this total giving of yourself is not all it seems because, as much as you want to see everything in your partner, you want them to see everything in you.

This is what I call the 'Gallon in a Pint pot' syndrome. Your partner can be drowned by love and affection, feel unable to live up to it and possibly go off with someone else who they feel is not so demanding, or treat you badly for not being aware of their darker side. Alternatively, such disillusionment may cause you to abandon your mate yourself, or be promiscuous in your desire to love the world. To rectify all this and allot the right amount of your fulsome love nature to a partner, I advise you to invest most of it in some form of artistic expression or care work, like nursing. In any event, the use of discrimination is the key to expressing your love of all things.

♀ in 5th House

Venus in the Fifth House

Your feelings of love and beauty have no trouble finding expression because you have a natural sense that they should be expressed. So you possess the usual graces of a romantically and artistically inclined soul: affectionate, lively, entertaining, attractive to the opposite sex, etc. You also like to seek out such qualities in life and others, so galleries, theatres, parties, etc. exercise a magnetic pull.

You experience all the highs and lows of love and art, for this is essentially what gives you such a vibrant sense of them. You should never let anything get in the way of expressing yourself creatively for your natural style is very real. If you have children, it shows in them too.

Your Venus Aspects

Venus challenged by Jupiter

You can take everything that I've said here about your love nature and multiply it by five! You expect more and give more than most other people. What you need to get wise to is what's motivating you in this. If you're over-indulging yourself or others because of some neurosis - like feeling unattractive or that someone is your whole life - then you're setting yourself up for a fall. But once you gain a more philosophical understanding of the vagaries of loving and relating you will learn to keep something back in the knowledge that only you, or the god or law in which you believe, is worth that much attention.

Venus challenged by Neptune

When all is said and done your social skills and your sense of love and art, have to evolve to a higher level. This does mean that you are very idealistic in your love life or where your creations are concerned. Seeking the exquisite and exotic can mean many a disillusionment as loved ones fall from grace and show themselves to be the mere mortals that they are. Be that as it may, your refined senses serve as an inspiration to others. That you follow, or possibly excel in, some form of artistic or spiritual expression is very likely - or very important, because such is a more suitable means of giving form to your vision of a better world than being merely a hopeless romantic. In any event, love the one you're with - with all your heart and soul.

Chapter Seven - Your Mars profile: Self-Assertion and Sexual Drive

Mars in Capricorn

You assert yourself best when you have planned just how you are going to get what or who you want. Without some kind of structure or timetable you get very little done thoroughly. On the other hand though, you can also stick too much to your formula and become limited by it. Once you've embarked upon your plan however, very little can stop you reaching your target.

You're also quite businesslike in your sexual attitude and approach - and don't like wasting your energy backing or chasing losers. You like earthy no-nonsense types because they turn you on and keep you turned on. Eventually you'll learn to be in good control of your sexuality, but should avoid suppressing it - which isn't the same thing.

♂ in 3rd House

Mars in the Third House

Most or all of this applies especially to your manner of speech or literary expression, your everyday encounters, giving or receiving education and your relationships with siblings. You could say that these areas are the battleground of your life. Your Mars Aspects below will reveal how easy or difficult that battle is. Ultimately, you should be a strong voice, which is heard above others'.

Your Mars Aspects

Mars challenged by Sun

Because you have a sharp and forceful personality, you progressively become more and more conscious of the pros and cons of this situation. You keep pushing on, no matter what. Consequently, you are eventually able to win over people to your cause- but you will unavoidably fall out with others in the process. This support, plus the ability to make considerable headway in life, is also due to the fact that you have the courage of your convictions.

Mars allying with Saturn

Under normal circumstances you pursue your objectives and perform your tasks with commendable discipline and thoroughness. You believe that if a job is worth doing at all, it's worth doing well. In times of hardship or stress, you are the kind of person others are glad to have around, for you have stamina, courage and resourcefulness.

Mars challenged by Uranus

You like to go your own way and if anyone or anything opposes what you yourself want you react quite hotly, even violently or recklessly. You have a very strong sense of fighting for your own (and others') rights to do what you feel you must do.

As long as you don't let this turn you into a mindless reactionary with an unstable temperament able to attract quite dangerous predicaments, your actions can prove to be both fast and effective - even healing. But then again, you might actually like danger. Sexually, you can be wild or experimental, unconventional and unpredictable, as you seek the truth of what sex is all about.

Chapter Eight - Your Jupiter profile: Faith and Understanding

♃ in ♈

Jupiter in Sagittarius

Faith comes naturally to you in that you're basically aware that there is a rhyme and a reason to it all. Consequently, philosophy and mental abstraction is a strong suit of yours. Whatever else your personality might contain, you believe in something, to one degree or another, that goes beyond what is intellectually definable.

Because you have this innate faith that life is going somewhere, life in turn encourages you to travel onwards and sometimes even grants you a prophetic glimpse around the bend in the road. Providing that you do not dwell too much in pure and abstract theory, you'd make a good guide or teacher.

♃ in 2nd House

Jupiter in the Second House

You like to have something physical to show for your beliefs, so in proportion to the strength of your faith, you will accumulate money and possessions. The danger here is that this can become a substitute for faith itself. For example, you could amass lots of things around you but feel hollow inside. The wisdom that you are after, or already possess, is that of using your flair for attracting wealth to guide and assist projects and people that are in need of it.

Your Jupiter Aspects

Jupiter allying with Sun

By and large you fall into the positive category with respect to your faith in life and the luck that it attracts. There is, however, a danger of your taking it for granted, simply because it comes so naturally. All the same, your beliefs are the mainstay of your existence and vitality and others can learn much from them.

Jupiter opposed by Moon

There is something very natural about the way you express your faith and enthusiasms. One could say that your faith was inborn. This may of course mean that you simply subscribe to the religious persuasions of your family or racial background - whatever they may be - or that you oppose them with equal zeal. Being quite so subjective about your spiritual convictions, you may well under or overestimate them and therefore be challenged concerning them.

Jupiter challenged by Venus

You do so want all this seeking of faith and meaning to be enjoyable. This can translate into your being plain hedonistic as you endorse the saying that "the road of excess leads to the palace of wisdom". You are certainly a party person and good fun to be with.

However, for you, true joy is found through judiciously bestowing your genuinely bountiful affections upon others, rather than squandering them as if you believed that quantity could be a substitute for quality. In this way you will find that those others then truly appreciate you.

Jupiter uniting with Neptune

All along your path of development and discovery the principles that guide you are often weakened by a tendency to think better of others than they deserve, or that life is easier than it actually is. Indeed, your capacity to give the benefit of the doubt - which is born of the Utopian ideal that everyone is kind and beautiful deep down - is a major attribute of yours. But to avoid being dangerously gullible, ponder on the fact that everything is as good, beautiful and laid-back as it is - not as you fancy it to be.

Chapter Nine - Your Saturn Profile: Lessons and Responsibilities

♄ in ♉

Saturn in Taurus

You are learning to set the correct value on things. This in turn poses that you have a particularly good sense of material values on the one hand, but tend to undervalue intangibles. All the same, money can be a critical source of worry - either because you're frightened of losing what you already possess, or because you're in debt, or funds seem hard to come by.

In the first case, you are attaching too much importance to it; in the second you probably haven't taken it seriously enough; in the third case you'd need to understand that cash flow is not really logical and has something to do with how well off you feel you ought to be. Which brings us back to undervaluing intangibles - that is, your psychological or emotional state and that of others and life itself.

♄ in 8th House

Saturn in the Eighth House

These lessons and tests mainly relate to involvements of an intimate nature, where sexuality and shared values and resources are a critical issue. The challenge of finding a position of strength for yourself presents itself in dilemmas focusing upon control. For example, seeking to control your partner in order to maintain closeness, or finding yourself under their control because of your doubts about how to stand your own ground.

The granting or withholding of sexual intercourse or secret information are the main instruments of control. Shared property can also become a manipulative device as it has become a symbol of the emotions that have been invested in the relationship but which have not been looked at honestly. Essentially, you're learning what deep commitment means. Ultimately you have to let go of your fear of closeness and be honest about your desperate need for it in order to attain it.

Your Saturn Aspects

Saturn allying with Mars

A solid virtue of yours is a consistent willingness to meet and actually deal with the problems and challenges of life. Indeed, your physical reliability probably prevents the worst from happening. Working hard comes naturally to you.

♄ △ ♃ ★★☆☆☆

Saturn allying with Pluto

The more that you knuckle down to what has to be done, the more power to your elbow you get. The more you have to handle, the more you are capable of handling.

Chapter Ten - Your Uranus Profile: Awakening and Freedom

 in

Uranus in Libra

You belong to a generation (born during the late 1960's to mid 1970's) whose intention was to reform attitudes towards marriage, relating and social conduct in general. If you have a strong degree of social conscience, you will want to find some way of changing the laws and principles that guide and govern the people. Your generation is alive to the fact - or can be easily awakened to it - that a single powerful idea can change the face of society, or even the world.

 in 12th House

Uranus in the Twelve House

Your urge for change, awakening and to be free to do your own thing is somewhat subdued. It's as if the most original and talented part of you is afraid to show itself. This is probably because at some stage in the past - even in the womb or before that - you felt ridiculed, discouraged from taking risks, or your freedom was abused or under-used. This suppressed sense of liberty can give you an acute insight into what lies at the root of inhibitions in both yourself and others but, sooner or later, you have to track down what originally held you back, re-live it and once more find your wings.

Your Uranus Aspects

Uranus opposed by Sun

At no cost do you want to be deprived of your ego's right to dance in its own light. In other words, ideals and social principles are all very well for you, but in the end you see yourself as your own rule maker and rule breaker. You are becoming increasingly conscious of the fact that the only true determinant of what life is about is you - or rather your self-awareness. You are very much ahead of your time in some ways, but be careful not to allow such living in the future to distort what's actually going on for you right now.

Uranus allying with Moon

You instinctively manage all these forces for change and liberation with apparent ease and an innate sense of what is true and right. You find that by being loose and open to the promise of the future, and avoiding tucking yourself away somewhere 'safe', you're able tune in to your own truth, which is your creative spark. You can also guide others to theirs and reassure them in times of stress.

Uranus challenged by Mars

When you stop to think about it, you relish your sense of freedom and what it is in you that stands out from the crowd because it sharpens your sense of uniqueness. Your sex life becomes a particularly vibrant area for breaking the rules and further intensifying your individuality. But really this is all in aid of waking you up to what it really means to be free to do your own thing.

Chapter Eleven - Your Neptune Profile: Sensitivity and Spirituality

Neptune in Sagittarius

You belong to the Neptunian generation born between 1970 and the mid 1980's. As this generation came of age, confusion was experienced with regard to what was right or wrong. The underlying reason for this was a want of distinction between the Law of Man and the Law of God. In other words, this generation, and the time they were growing up in, had to contact a more spiritual and less material, yet at the same time practical, means of directing human morals and appetites. A real sense of the divine or the quantum began to emerge now.

Neptune in the Second House

You are sensitive about your self-worth and earning ability. On the other hand, you could be sensitive to money matters by having a sixth sense about them but it's more likely that you find it hard to grasp or hold on to what you actually own. This can mean that you are open-handed and don't care too much about money, or that you're forever depending on handouts and maybe have a 'something will turn up' attitude, or else when you have money it just slips through your fingers; you are also open to financial deception.

What is going on here is that you are having to settle for the fact that such matters are in the 'lap of the Gods' and you should accordingly accept what Providence delivers or takes away. The more you can tune into the mystery of where it all comes from and goes to (which has something to do with believing that you will be provided for in proportion to your spiritual worth) then the fewer financial problems there will be.

Personal capabilities which are products of your sensitivity or imagination would fall into line with this - such as the arts, photography, dance, healing, psychism, or anything spiritual.

Your Neptune Aspects

Neptune allying with Sun

You have a healthy, constructive and creative sense of matters relating to sensitivity and spirituality. You are therefore able and willing to incorporate them into your life as a whole. Your sense of idealism and compassion is central to your life's purpose and it becomes increasingly obvious to you that all living things are one. You are qualified to champion and exemplify this truth.

Neptune challenged by Venus

You readily find a means of giving form to your finer feelings and more sophisticated ideas, as described by your Neptune Profile as a whole. You seek the sublime or the glamorous in the world of art or society. The sublime leads you forever on; the glamorous seductively leads you round in circles.
